Crowded

This is a month of crowds.

On November 7th certain places will be crowded with people waiting to cast their vote in various elections.

On November 15th children will be crowding the kitchen to help their parents out on National Clean Your Refrigerator Day.

On November 23rd there will be crowds of people going back for second helpings of turkey and Aunt Matilda's sweet potato soufflé.

And before the last turkey bone hits the bottom of the platter with the cornucopia swag there will be many crowds of people standing in line to buy Uncle Jesse a peanut butter machine for Christmas at 85% off the retail price.

November is full of crowds.

But what if this year we took a detour from the normal crowds and got into a new crowd?

Alexander MacLaren once wrote:

Seek to cultivate a buoyant, joyous sense of the crowded kindnesses of God in your daily life.

How has God been kind to you in the last 3 minutes? How has God been kind to you in the last 3 days?

You might quickly think of a few things like breathing or health or family or friends, but buoyant, jolly, cheerful, bubbly, bouncy, jaunty, perky, optimistic, positive, peppy or upbeat aren't really crossing your radar right now.

Here's a kindness of God you can be buoyant about right now:

...the Son of God...loved me and gave himself for me. GALATIANS 2:20

May our hearts be crowded this month with a buoyant sense of the extreme and amazing kindness of the gospel!

I pray for you, that all your misgivings will be melted to thanksgivings. Remember that the shadow a thing casts often far exceeds the size of the thing itself... Oh that He would restore us often with that 'aspect from beyond,' to see a thing as He sees it...
